- Capacity Building is crucial for implementing the Paris Agreement and achieving the SDGs. Building on your experience, what is needed to enable and unlock young people's skills, resources, capacities and potential in developing solutions and driving ambitious climate action at the local level?
- In which particular key area do you see the opportunity to integrate the outcomes and achievements of your experience into your country's climate strategy or plans?
- What kind of support can help young people reduce the risk, enhance the impact and speed up the implementation process, and enhance engagement of young entrepreneurs?
- What more could government and non-party stakeholders do to build and retain the capacity of young people for engaging more effectively in climate related policy development and implementation of actions at the local level?
